

Engelberg-Titlis. Business before pleasure.

PRESS RELEASE

23 November 2011

Business before pleasure: Work till 6 pm; catch the flight at 8 pm; arrive at Zürich Airport at around 10pm and take advantage of the late shuttle service provided by Engelberg Titlis Tourism at 11pm and be the first on the slopes the next day. With a transfer time of less than 90 minutes, Engelberg-Titlis is the closest snowsure ski resort to Zürich Airport and offers a late shuttle transfer each Thursday and Friday from 1 December till late April.

Engelberg-Titlis is the ideal destination for short breaks. Easy to reach, snowsure and with a lively night life. Engelberg-Titlis offers fantastic conditions all winter long. No matter whether ski enthusiasts come from London or Stockholm, more than 27 late-arrival flights can benefit from the late transfer. So skiers who like the idea of a last-minute flying visit just need to register 48 hours before their arrival.

Engelberg-Titlis is the most quickly reachable snowsure ski from Zurich airport. The slopes are open for snowsports enthusiasts from October right through until the end of May. Thanks to the Titlis glacier, which lies 3,020 metres above sea level and extensive snowmaking elsewhere, magnificent conditions for winter sports last until well into late spring.
